Auxiliary Services

TRACING

One of the most frustrating aspects of collecting overdue accounts is discovering that the debtor has absconded. Letters that you may have had returned are often referred to as "gone-aways" and many creditors at this point give up the chase. Help is at hand. Our local knowledge and extensive network of agents contribute to our high success rate in tracing debtors who have absconded in an attempt to elude their creditors. Our expertise in tracing a "gone-away" can be applied to the recovery of accounts by limited companies, sole traders/partnerships or individuals. We can carry out a complete investigation into debtors' past addresses, payment record and personal circumstances or tailor the service to meet your specific objectives. Once a new address is found, contact can be resumed.

PRE-LITIGATION REPORTS

Having considerable expertise in the field of credit reporting, we are able to produce a report that will help show you whether it is worth initiating legal proceedings. The report will entail the current status of the debtor and whether there are any outstanding judgments. If the debtor is a limited company the report will also include the latest information available from the Companies Registry.

INSOLVENCY

We work in close conjunction with a leading firm of Insolvency Practitioners and can arrange to have you professionally represented at creditors' meetings throughout Ireland or the United Kingdom.

CREDIT INSURANCE & INVOICE DISCOUNTING

We can provide practical advice in these areas and arrange competitive quotations.
